The following table shows the results of the survey conducted in 2020. The data is presented in two columns, with the first column representing the year and the second column representing the value. The values generally increase over time, starting from 100 in 1990 and reaching 400 in 2020. The data points are as follows:

The survey results indicate a steady upward trend in the data over the period from 1990 to 2020. The values in the second column are consistently higher than those in the first column, suggesting a positive correlation or a consistent offset between the two variables being measured. The overall pattern shows a linear increase of approximately 10 units per year.
